

Theft of Bathtub Is Easily Understood, But Why Boulder?

Heat does funny things to people, especially burglars, judging from police reports.

Two of them, for instance, stole a half-ton boulder from a vacant lot at Markison and Champion avenues. Another made off with a bathtub from the J. F. Oelgoetz Co., 3365 North High street.

According to Mrs. E. A. Eichner, 1618 South Champion avenue, two men tugged at the huge boulder until they lifted it onto a trailer, then they drove away.

Theft of the bathtub, valued at $20, was reported to police by J. F. Oelgoetz, 279 East North Broadway, proprietor of the company.
